

Power to Empower – India’s 1st Skills Enterprise Competition

In an attempt to encourage young Entrepreneurs to be part of this mammoth business opportunity, NSDC is co-organizing a Vocational Skills Enterprise Plan Competition focused on encouraging innovative and implementable business solutions that contribute to the development of a sustainable vocational skills ecosystem in India. The competition has 4 objectives:

- Create awareness about business opportunities in the skills space
- Encourage young minds to think of skills as a sustainable and scalable business opportunity
- Evolve and popularise new business models developed through business plan competition
- Incubate models which are ready to be launched through financial assistance

India@ 75, a CII initiative, is the other co-organiser of the event. The Indian School of Business (ISB) is the Knowledge Partner and Ernst & Young is the Process Partner for the competition. The key differentiator of this competition is its focus on creating solutions with the objective of converting these into reality. Details of the competition are available on the Power to Empower website. Link to the site:
